The proposal for Consortium for Higher Education E-resources (called e-Shodh Sindhu) was submitted to the MHRD in the month of March 2014 wherein institutions that were already part of INDEST-AICTE Consortium, UGC-INFONET Digital Library Consortium and NLIST were considered as core members. Project proposal and expenditure required for subscribing e-resources for member institutions was based on proposed member institutions. Accordingly, the Ministry has allocated funds required for subscribing e-resources for these institutions to e-Shodh Sindhu.

Meanwhile, number of institutions especially CFTIs have increased multifold in past two years. It would not be possible for e-Shodh Sindhu to provide access to e-resources to new CFTIs and universities that have qualified for 12(B) status in past one year. For the year 2016, institutions that were part of INDEST-AICTE Consortium and UGC-INFONET Digital Library Consortium till December, 2015 are being covered under e-Shodh Sindhu.

List of eligible institutions that could not be covered under e-Shodh Sindhu is enclosed. I would, however, like to assure you that institutions that could not be included in eSS in 2016 would be covered as core members in the year 2017 and they would be provided access to e-resources as entitled for their respective categories.

Meanwhile, you are requested to bear with us.

Thanks and regards.
